

Tolerance

This is our value for November

Aim

- To understand what tolerance means
- To understand ways in which we can be tolerant

What Does Tolerance Mean?

Being tolerant, or behaving with tolerance, means to accept other people's differences.

In what way are people different?

Hamid wasn't really impressed when his friend Sarah shared her homework project about her family's Australian history

James listens with interest to his friend describing the important religious festival that his family celebrated a couple of weeks ago.

During sports day, David, the captain of the red team, was yelling at the runner at the back of the relay team, who was falling behind.

Josh asked Callum, who was a wheelchair user, if he would like the door opened.

Bell had been asked to support Clare with her maths subtractions but , but was becoming frustrated that she didn't understand the work.

Reflection

“The highest result of education is tolerance.” Helen Keller.

“Compassion and tolerance are not a sign of weakness ,but a sign of strength.” Dalai Lama.

“Tolerance is a virtue that makes peace possible.” Kofi Annan.

What do you think the quotes mean?
How can they help us be a more tolerant person?

Watch this video as a reminder of what we have been talking about today